Redling Fine Art is pleased to announce our first solo exhibition by Los Angeles based artist Mario Correa. Pulling from a myriad of painting histories, the latest paintings are the result of exercises in mark making. They translate such activities as skipping stones, clapping, jumping rope and apple peeling in mind. But these are not records of banal often solitary acts- rather when the act is taken to the extreme. Correa abstractions of Guinness Book of World Records are more about movement and space than simple

Correa has shown for the last five years both in Los Angeles and Internationally.
